THE SOUND MERCHANT GETS MAIL

Kathrin Rohmann, Jule Wellerdiek

New reading fun with the sound merchant

A cupboard full of music, a hearty yawn and a pinch of mooing on top – these are the ingredients for new, fantastic read-aloud stories. The sound merchant is back from his big world sound trip. While he is still unpacking his souvenirs, new customers come into his store: two swimming trunks want a big splash, an alien wants a ›souvenir from Earth‹ and what does raspberry ice cream actually sound like? On Friday, the monster arrives and puts down his rucksack, which the sound merchant opens – despite all the warnings ... The new stories by Kathrin Rohmann, wonderfully illustrated by Jule Wellerdiek, are a great pleasure to read aloud, following on from the bestseller The Sound Merchant.

The long-awaited sequel to the bestseller about a very special store that sells sounds for all occasions

The Author

Kathrin Rohmann, born in 1967, writes books and stories for children. When she was at school, she wanted to be a set designer or a journalist - or write books. Because of Astrid Lindgren. Because of a dog like Bootsmann, she then began an agricultural apprenticeship and went on to study. Kathrin Rohmann lives near her home town of Hanover and often has wanderlust

The Illustrator

Jule Wellerdiek has been drawing since she could hold a pencil. After studying design at Münster University of Applied Sciences, she now works as a freelance illustrator, doing what she loves best – dreaming up stories and turning them into pictures, preferably with lots of quirky characters and details. She has already been awarded the Picture-This prize for her debut Holger's House (2022).
